

I liked the information that Ian Pugh gave us because I didn't know all that about history like

- The Cockleshell soldiers
- Hitler's Moustache etc.

I can't wait to start reading 'WOLF-STORM'! Listening to Ian I'm pretty excited to read the book and have a look at the illustrations, and according to what I've heard from Ian it's based on World War 2 and is about a boy that is very much into science. According to what Danny knew he decided to try to go into the future with the amazing facts that slow down your watch when you travel more closer to the speed of light.

In my opinion this book is recommended for every age and is incredibly awesome to listen to because it sounds so cool when you listen to someone's (the authors) Review on the book it. Listening to the book makes you imagine so much and I can't wait to know what think about the story.

The author told us that he's going to write a whole TRILOGY with Danny (the hero) in them. The author also told about his friend that he knew (Christopher Little) and it turns out that Christopher was J.K.Rowling's Agent! Ian told us how proud he was when he met Mr.Little. Ian told us how he saw The massive shelf in Mr.Little's office filled with Harry Potter books all either in different languages or different series.
