To Whom It May Concern

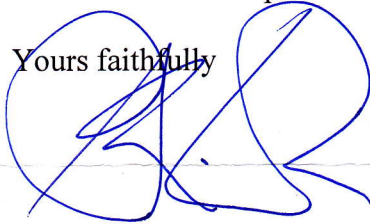

I can confirm that Ian Pugh, through his company Blue Apple, has very successfully undertaken several assignments for us over the past four years, two of which were substantial projects.

The first major assignment was the design, copywriting and production of Argyll's corporate brochure. The written content of the brochure was done entirely by Ian, whilst Blue Apple handled the design, printing and production. The job was carried out in an extremely efficient and professional manner, resulting in a top quality brochure that continues to attract very favourable comment from all quarters.

Our total satisfaction with the brochure, lead to the appointment of Blue Apple and Ian for a second vital task. This involved the entire production (inclusive of written content) of a PowerPoint presentation to form the introductory section of our presentation to market a Montenegro Property fund we launched in December 2005. Our loyalty was well rewarded with an imaginative, entertaining presentation that was pitched perfectly for the audience it was aimed at.

Despite multiple locally based alternatives, we continue to use Ian and Blue Apple for copywriting, design and production work, given our confidence that the job will not only be completed to the highest standard but also that the end result will be original, innovative and competitive.

Yours faithfully
